Fairmont annexation suit dismissed

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Plans by Fairmont City to annex more than 700 acres were put on hold after a St. Clair County judge dismissed the village's annexation petition, but the matter is far from closed, said attorneys involved in the case.

At a hearing Wednesday morning, Associate Judge Scott Mansfield dismissed the petition for a supervised annexation at the request of the village. The plan had been opposed by several landowners and the city of Madison, which claims it had already annexed several of the properties. Most of the property, south and west of Madison, is part of the recently reincorporated village of National City.

Some property owners, including St. Louis National Stockyards — the largest property owner in the former village — had submitted pre-annexation agreements to Fairmont City. Attorney Bob Becker, who represents the stockyards, said they still want to annex into Fairmont City.

"We wish it could happen now, the sooner the better," he said. He also predicted that there would be legal challenges to many of the annexations in the area.

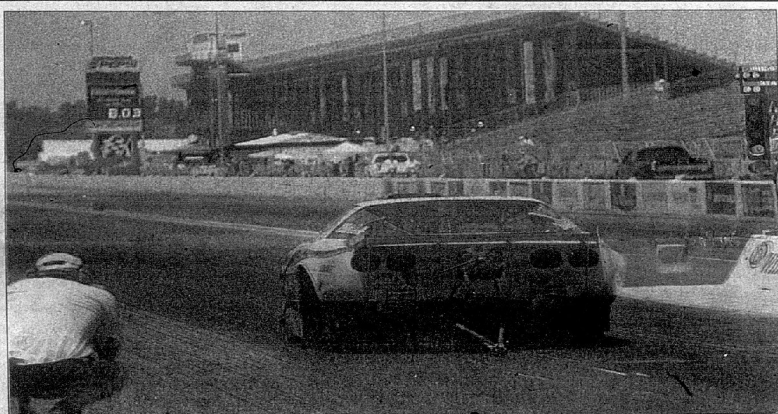

Madison City Attorney Casper Nighoghossian said after the hearing that overlapping annexations by both Fairmont City and Madison in 1996 must be settled.

"This will hopefully lead to negotiations," he said.

In 1996, both municipalities had approached the St. Louis National Stockyards about annexation after National City was officially dissolved. In jockeying for position, both municipalities approved annexation ordinances for the properties.

Patriots gathering in Wilson Park

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

One of the best Independence Day celebrations in the state is Granite City's own Patriots in the Park, which runs through Sunday.

It's the perfect time to get together with family and friends and enjoy several fun days in Wilson Park, capped with what promises to be a spectacular fireworks display on the Fourth. This year, said director of parks and recreation Dave Polivik, the fireworks will be even better.

"Last year we spent $15,000 on the fireworks display, and it was the fifth largest in the state," he said recently.

"This year, we spent $20,000 ... and will have a computer-synchronized soundtrack, something Granite City has never had in 35 years of fireworks," he said.

Special events are planned throughout the five-day party, including a special concert by the nationally renowned gospel group, The Imperials.

Also, the Old Six Mile Historical Society, which is holding open house tours at their Maryville Road location throughout the weekend, will be taking new orders during the craft fair Sunday for copies of Granite City

Raceway's parent company grows

No changes in operations, personnel expected in merger's wake

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Hot on the heels of the second major racing event of the year at Gateway International Raceway in Madison, a merger involving the raceway's parent company has been approved by shareholders.

The merger of Dover Downs Entertainment Inc. and the Grand Prix Association of Long Beach, the parent company of Gateway International Raceway, was approved by shareholders of both companies Tuesday. Jennifer Gaetano, a public relations specialist with GPALB, confirmed Wednesday that the merger was approved.

"It has gone through and everything is on track," she said.

Dover Downs owns and operates a multipurpose entertainment complex conducting NASCAR and Indy Racing League auto racing, harness horse racing, pari-mutual wagering on simulcast harness and thoroughbred horse races, and video slot machines in Delaware. The company also owns and operates Nashville Speedway.

Leaders mapping out perfect proposal

Madison County Board Committee slated to hear boundary request on July 8

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

Mitchell incorporation drive leaders are fine-tuning their new boundary proposal before the Madison County Board can decide on the year-old issue. Incorporation leaders had wanted the Board's Land Use Committee to consider the new, 14-square-mile proposal on Wednesday, but committee members suggested they wait until their next meeting at 9 a.m. July 8.

James Sinclair, attorney for the incorporation drive, said the Mitchell group still is pushing ahead to have the proposal before the full board at its July 15 meeting.

"They suggested we wait a week (and) we bent to their suggestion," he said.

Leaders are hoping their smaller proposal will meet with favor with board members this time around. Last summer, the board overwhelmingly voted to stop the incorporation based on a larger, 22-square-mile map.

Rep delivers good news

Costello touts robust economy, federal support for region

"The law will provide an increase of more than $200 million per year to maintain and build roads and bridges."

Jerry Costello

By Becky Garrison
Staff writer

After receiving a standing ovation at the Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors meeting last week, U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Ill., gave an overview on recent developments in Washington, D.C.

Costello indicated at the conference that was held at Stonewall Golf Course in Fairview Heights that "our region" is doing well.

"This is the best economy in a generation," Costello said.

He added that unemployment is the lowest it has ever been in Illinois.

Costello received enthusiastic applause when he announced the passing of the Internal Revenue Service Reform Bill.

"The bill establishes an oversight panel that is responsible for monitoring how the IRS conducts its business and treats taxpayers," Costello said.

"In the past you were guilty until proven innocent. This bill will shift the burden of proof from the taxpayer to the IRS," Costello said.

The transportation bill (recently signed into law) will benefit the metro area.

"The law will provide an increase of more than $200 million per year to maintain and build roads and bridges," Costello said.

Jerry Costello

He said that the increase will continue over a six-year period. Transit received a 41 percent increase throughout the nation. In the next two or three weeks, the Appropriations Committee will be looking at funds to continue with phase two of Metrolink, Costello said. Phase two extends Metrolink to Belleville Area College.

"We expect full funding of extending Metrolink to BAC will be met. We still need approval to extend it to Scott and that was in the transportation bill," Costello said.

Costello said that MidAmerica Airport was built for the future, not 1998. He shared that a study at Illinois State University projected that Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties will grow at a rapid rate.

GUEST COLUMN

Reforming society starts with leaders

It is a given that almost every day the newspapers are reporting teenage criminal behavior in school and almost every other place. It is frequently reported that the basic family structure has collapsed. There is little doubt in my mind that this is the case. Violence is a major issue at all levels of our society, but it is especially troubling when I think of it affecting our young people of today who will be the leaders of tomorrow.

A recent guest column reported that Illinois has one of the 10 most regressive tax systems in the United States. That is nothing of which a state legislator should be proud. They have had time enough to recognize the problems associated with the fact that families making less than the poverty line still are paying substantial state taxes. As a result, both parents find it necessary to work just to provide basic family necessities. Children are then often left to fend for themselves when the parents are not at home.

Children of all ages are exposed to the news media events of the day, which are just about enough to put a fair-minded and reasonable person in a state of shock. Allegations of political corruption, government and corporate employees embezzling money and extreme violence of every description have become routine. Where is all of this leading our society? Where is the courtesy that people once extended to one another?

I feel that it is our responsibilities as parents to mold our children into productive and responsible citizens. However, as a parent myself, I believe additionally we must rid our government and judicial system of the people who do not fairly and honestly execute their responsibilities to the citizens of the community. How in the world can we expect young people to behave responsibly when the pillars of the community cannot do so?

I am referring to judges who disregard their personal relationship with people charged with violations of the law who come before them and then receive special consideration not accorded other violators. I also am referring to legislators who spend a considerable amount of time at taxpayer's expense defending charges of impropriety. There is a real danger that the above examples are becoming so commonplace that they threaten how the next generation of community leaders will view right from wrong. These outside influences make responsible parenting very difficult.

The lawmakers in Springfield recently passed what has been referred to as a "sweeping ethics reform bill" just before they departed for the campaign trail. The bill had to be carefully worded so that it would be acceptable to the politicians who would be voting on it. The major concession, which had to be made in order to pass the bill, will still let lobbyists pay for golf and tennis outings, and for dinner. Mike Lawrence, associate director of the Public Policy Institute at Southern Illinois University and the driving force behind the bill, said, "You're asking them to do something that is not in their personal interest."

House Speaker Michael Madigan had $1.3 million in campaign funds on hand at the end of the last reporting period. How much of that campaign money will be converted to personal use is anybody's guess. The politicians who voted for this loophole-riddled legislation are the same ones who will be knocking on the door soliciting your support. This is not the reform package I had in mind. There are too many self-serving loopholes, and true campaign reform is just too bitter of a pill for the incumbent legislators to swallow. Much more needs to be done. It is time to look to the future and learn from the past. I want to see integrity, openness and accountability in our government.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Thanks due TO THE EDITOR:

Just as many residents of the River Bend area were getting up Sunday morning, June 14, a windstorm, which the Weather Service reported as tornadoes, hit many homes and properties.

There was widespread devastation in Godfrey and Chouteau Townships, which includes South Roxana and Hartford.

These municipalities have only a few employees in their street departments, and they were faced with a mountain, maybe two, of clean-up, including trees and debris. If you were in one of these storm areas, imagine you and two or three others trying to clean up the overwhelming mess.

The street department employees and personnel are to be commended for their continuing hard work in South Roxana, Hartford and Godfrey. The Madison County Highway Department, along with other agencies, were a tremendous help, but they needed more. All it took was a phone call to neighboring Township Road Commissioners throughout Madison County.

This is a busy time of the year for road crews, but they came out in force to help. They sent dump trucks, wood chippers and workers to man the machinery. They worked tirelessly to clean up the trees and brush that residents put on the side of the streets.

Thank you doesn't begin to express the gratitude to the following Township Road Departments: Chouteau Township; Helvetia Township (Highland); Jarvis Township (Marine); City of Troy; Collinsville Township; Granite City Township; Omphigent Township (Prairie-town); St. Jacob Township; Pin Oak Township (Edwardsville); Foster Township (Fosterberg); Godfrey Township; and St. Clair County. If you were helped by any of these neighboring Township Road Departments, I'm sure they would appreciate a note of thanks.

Their names and addresses can be found in the government section of the phonebook. BARBARA OVERTON Chouteau township clerk President of Madison County Township Officials Association

Owners sought TO THE EDITOR:

My family and I recently adopted a pet from the Metro East Humane Society. "Sam" is a mixed spaniel breed, a gentle and playful dog, housebroken (with a tendency to get on the couch, but we are working on this one "flaw"), about 1 year old. He is intelligent and inquisitive.

He replaces other pets we have had for many years and is a great addition to our family. Sam had been neutered, had his shots and clearly had come from a home where his former owners cared about him — and was within one hour of being put to death when we adopted him.

The society's facilities are clean and well-run, but space is limited and they can only accommodate so many animals at one time. When their maximum capacity is reached, some animals have to be put to death. The staff quite obviously cares about the animals. It was also obvious to my family and me that they go to great lengths to avoid putting any animal to death. But, they have no alternative.

Madison County residents with pets should always have their pets neutered or spayed. There are far too many animals needlessly put to death because previous owners either did not care or fell into some circumstances that made it necessary for them to give up a loved pet.

I would like to encourage those who are looking for pets to visit the Metro East Humane Society's facilities. They are easy to find: Take Interstate 55 north toward Chicago and then take the Illinois 148 turnoff (or, from Edwardsville, take I-43 East) and watch for the facilities on your left next to the Madison County Animal Control offices. Or call them at 696-4465.

If you aren't in a position to adopt a pet, send them a donation at P.O. Box 1, Edwardsville, 62025. They put every donation to a good use.

The director and staff are great people to visit, and if you don't find a dog, puppy, cat, kitten or rabbit there that tugs at your heart, you have no soul.

JACK KIME Maryville

Bathroom proves inspirational TO THE EDITOR:

Have you ever wondered about the American English written word? The British invented English but we spell some words different than them. When I see words like "Mississippi" I can't help but wonder.

Somewhere at the top of the literary world there must have been someone who had too much to drink one day and decided to have a little fun. The lower levels have been busy conforming ever since.

Just think of all the extra keys they have had to punch. No wonder carpal tunnel syndrome is getting to be such a problem.

It makes it kind of tough on us old, retired, blue collar folks with a GED. Sometimes I have trouble even spelling my own name. If they want it real fast, I have to get out my driver's license, if I can remember where I put it.

In the blue collar world, you can develop a tremendous vocabulary of four letter words. As a retired plumber, you would be surprised by how much graffiti written on toilet partitions I have read. Much of it is very inspired. Any professional writers who have a problem coming up with things to write about might try sitting on a "porta potty" in front of their typewriters to enhance inspiration. Just a thought.

Illegal dumping will be punished, city police warn

Granite City Police want city and area residents who have illegal dumping in mind to think twice.

A non-resident was arrested Wednesday after an officer discovered he was illegally dumping trash and broken glass the city's grass and leaf dump on 25th Street.

"We have had perpetual problems with non-residents and residents as well, with illegal dumping," said Maj. Kip Pomeroy. "We're pleased our officer was able to make an apprehension."

Although one arrest with misdemeanor charges may not seem like much, he said, the illegal dumping has to stop, and officers will arrest anyone they catch in the act.

Rain washes ozone right out of the air

Region gets break from hot weather

By Ande Yakstis
Staff writer

Hazardous ozone levels dropped dramatically Monday after rain storms and slightly cooler air blew through the area.

"The heavy rains and wind washed harmful ozone out of the air from Alton to Wood River and Edwardsville," said Bob Swinford, supervisor of the air quality unit of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

Hot, humid temperatures last week pushed ozone levels up to 100 parts per billion, just short of the unhealthy 120 parts per billion, Swinford said.

"The rain and cooler air dropped ozone levels down below 48 parts per billion Monday at measuring stations at Alton, Wood River and Edwardsville," Swinford said.

Ozone is a ground level pollutant that is increased to harmful levels by vehicle exhaust and industry emissions in sunlight and hot temperatures, Swinford said.

"Ozone is a strong lung irritant especially harmful to people with respiratory diseases," he said.

A number of people were treated at area hospitals for heat related illnesses over the weekend when temperatures climbed to 98 degrees and the heat index to 105 degrees.

Three people were treated and released for heat illness at Anderson Hospital in Maryville during the weekend.

At Alton Memorial Hospital, a 15-year-old patient was treated for heat exhaustion and a 16-year-old patient received treatment for dehydration, the hospital reported.

At Saint Anthony's Health Center in Alton, six people were treated and released during the weekend for heat related causes from sunburn to heat exhaustion.

Bill Bryant of the St. Louis National Weather Service said temperatures will be somewhat milder during the coming weekend.

"The temperature will go down to the mid to upper 80s on Wednesday and Thursday and then back up into the 90s on the Fourth of July weekend," he said.

Heavy rains in Iowa and Illinois will push up the Mississippi River slightly at Alton and Grafton this week.

At Melvin Price Locks and Dam in Alton Monday, the river level stood at 20.4 feet, just under the 21-foot flood stage, said Ray Kopsky Jr. of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

"The river will drop to 19.7 feet on Tuesday at the Price Locks and then back up to 20.8 feet on Friday," said Kopsky of the corps water control office.

Kopsky watched the weather radar Monday to track a strong line of thunderstorms in central Iowa. "Much of the rain runoff from the storms will flow down the river to Grafton and Alton," he said.

The river stood at 19 feet at Grafton Monday, a foot above the 18-foot flood stage, Kopsky said.

The river will drop to 18.9 feet at Grafton on Tuesday and then back up to 19.5 feet on Thursday," he said.

The Illinois River dropped slightly to 27.5 feet at Hardin in Calhoun County on Monday, 2.5 feet above the 25-foot flood stage.

"The Illinois River is falling and we're relieved," Kampsville Village Clerk Peggy Bick said.

City Council OKs grant, address numbers

MADISON

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Property owners in Madison will have to install easy-to-see address numbers on their buildings.

That was one of a number of ordinances and other actions approved at Tuesday's Madison City Council meeting.

The ordinance requires visible address numbers that are at least 3 inches tall on the front of each building.

The initial request for the ordinance came from Building Inspector George Hlava. It can also aid fire and police officials when responding to emergency calls.

The council also approved an ordinance allowing the city to enter into four contracts with Municipal Systems Inc. to develop an alternative adjudication system.

Under the new system, fines for non-criminal city ordinance violations would be paid directly to the city. It would also create a system of monthly hearings to settle disputes arising from the citations.

The council said the city would be that it would receive more of the fine money than it would from the county.

The council also approved an ordinance eliminating the city's recreation fund — which pays for the city's parks and recreation program and was operating in the red — and paying for park programs out of the general fund.

As part of the ordinance, a $123,000 shortfall in the recreation fund was forgiven.

The council also approved seeking a total of $84,400 in Madison County Community Development grants for its new housing program.

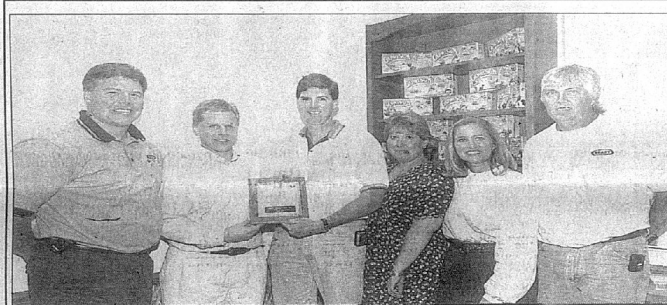

Mayor John Hamm said four sites and several housing styles have been approved, and two potential owners are ready to talk to banks.

The total cost of the four houses planned is $206,000. "We want to have the houses ready to move in to by early November," Hamm said.

Group therapy offered here

Chestnut Health Systems, a non-profit organization serving Madison County, announces a series of groups to help people who have problems with depression, anxiety and anger.

These groups and classes are offered in the Granite City office at 50 Northgate Industrial Drive and also in the Edwardsville office at 1507 Troy Road.

"Grouping is an excellent way to offer people the basic skills they need to better cope with or recover from personal problems that are related to depression, anxiety and anger," said Della Benham, Chestnut's director of Outpatient Services. "For example, in the depression classes, group members learn ways they can begin thinking and feeling better about themselves."

Mike Cooligan, licensed professional counselor, comments on help available from the anger group: "Inappropriate expression of anger frequently destroys relationships. Until people learn appropriate ways of expressing and channeling their anger, the angry person is likely to continue going through one relationship after another, not understanding that their way of expressing anger is the destructive force."

Anyone interested in obtaining more information about any of these classes or groups, please call 877-4420.

The merger leaves the combined company as one of the largest racing-related companies in the United States. As part of the merger, GPALA Chief Executive Officer Chris Pook and his management team will remain with the company. The merger is not expected to have any impact on the day-to-day operations at Gateway, but puts the company in a position to fast-track its expansion. So far, about $31 million has been spent on the motor sports complex, and another $10-$15 million is planned for the coming year. Pook said last week that they plan to add approximately 50,000 seats to the oval track over the winter, bringing the seating capacity to approximately 85,000. Track officials are hoping to bring a NASCAR Winston Cup race to the track — probably in 2000. That would require seating for about 100,000 people. The other major concern is parking. The track is attempting to obtain a 144-acre parcel to the west of the track for a major parking area. The Southwestern Illinois Development Authority attempted to use its quicktake powers to obtain the land, but that has been challenged and is in the Illinois appeals court.

The new map, which Sinclair worked on with State's Attorney William Haine and Board Chairman Rudy Papa, leaves out people who definitely don't want to be in Mitchell and attempts to include those who do. Sinclair told Mitchell supporters at a recent public meeting that with the revised map, they "should be in good shape."

Leaders in the surrounding cities — including Granite City, Pontoon Beach, Edwardsville, Hartford and South Roxana — objected to the larger map, mainly because they said their cities would have no room for future expansions. Last month, Granite City, Edwardsville and Pontoon Beach put forth their own proposal for Mitchell to consider. The cities' map incorporates 4 square miles of the area known historically as Mitchell. supporters' new map, however, encompasses less than 14 square miles, down from the 22 of the original proposal.

City leaders have indicated their proposal is a one-time offer. The 4-square-mile map is basically moot if Mitchell residents do not accept it because only the area wanting to incorporate can officially submit a map the County Board will approve.

House OKs bill for dam, canal

By Darryl Howlett
Staff writer

Projects at the Melvin Price Locks and Dam and the Chain of Rocks Canal will benefit from a bill passed by the U.S. House.

The projects are part of the fiscal year 1999 Energy and Water Appropriation Bill, which was passed recently. The bill includes $1.33 million for operation and maintenance costs for the Melvin Price Locks and Dam and another $700,000 for operation and maintenance costs for the Chain of Rocks Canal.

The maintenance on the canal includes dredging the waterway from Hartford to Granite City.

U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Belleville, a member of the House Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, said the funding would help the area continue to grow economically.

"These projects are of importance to our area's commerce, the agriculture community in particular," he said. "We must continue to improve the facilities that allow for commercial traffic on the Mississippi River."

The bill now goes to the Senate for consideration. Costello said a House-Senate conference committee will consider the bill. He said he expects the Senate to approve the funding and President Clinton to sign the bill in the fall.

Washington visit — U.S. Rep. John Shimkus, R-Collinsville, recently met with representatives of Madison County libraries in his Washington, D.C., office. Attending the meeting were Kay Pile, Madison County Library; Charm Ruhnke, Lewis and Clark Library System; Lee Logan, Alliance Library System; Ronald Colman, Granite City Public Library District; and Deanne Holshouser, Edwardsville Public Library. Shimkus invites anyone from his district who is traveling in Washington to stop by his office, located at 513 Cannon Building.

Man accused of burglary

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

Charges were expected to be filed Wednesday against a Granite City man for burglary.

Jason Womback, 18, was to be charged with burglary to a motor vehicle and attempted burglary of a residence. According to police reports, during the night of June 30, a woman living on the 2000 block of Cleveland heard what sounded like breaking glass coming from inside her house.

She called police, who brought out Sparky, one of the department's two police dogs, said Maj. Kip Pomeroy.

Sparky tracked the suspect to a car parked on the 2100 block of Edison, where the suspect was arrested. The suspect claimed the car belonged to a friend of his, that he had permission to be in it and planned sleep there that night, Pomeroy said.

Officers ran the plates and discovered the car belonged to someone else, and the owner said he didn't know the suspect nor did he give him permission to be in it. The owner did say a large amount of change was missing from the car, and officers found a large amount of change on the suspect, which police allege he took from the car.

Burglary to a vehicle carries a penalty of three to six years if convicted, and attempted burglary of a residence carries two to five years.

Poag folks fear being cut off from Mitchell

EDWARDSVILLE

By Becky Vollmer
Staff writer

Patricia Brooks said there's one big reason she opposes Edwardsville's plan to annex about 340 acres of farmland in the American Bottoms.

"We would be totally cut off from Mitchell," said Brooks, who lives in the 3500 block of Sand Road.

Brooks was one of about a dozen concerned Poag residents who attended a public hearing Monday evening at City Hall to speak out against the planned annexation.

Many of the residents of that area fear the city's annexation of the property would block them out of the Mitchell incorporation effort. Mitchell organizers estimate about 350 people living in Poag would not be contiguous to the area they wish to incorporate into a village if Edwardsville's annexation is approved.

"It's a good assumption," said Paul McNamara, the city's director of development administration.

Residents also worry the annexation could affect their fire protection service. Brenda Ropac, who lives in the 3200 block of Sand Road, said a previous annexation by Edwardsville cut her off from the Mitchell Fire Protection District to the south.

"Now, you're cutting me off on the north,"

"I fear I will be cut off from my fire district and will not be able to protect my home and my children. I do not want someone else controlling my destiny."

Brenda Ropac

she said at the hearing. "I fear I will be cut off from my fire district and will not be able to protect my home and my children. I do not want someone else controlling my destiny."

Vicky Walton, who lives on Hartzel Road, also opposes the annexation.

"Edwardsville does not have the ability to come to the Poag area in a short amount of time," she said.

McNamara said the city attorney will review the fragmenting of the Mitchell fire district, but that he did not think it would cut Poag residents off from its current fire service. No physical barriers would be erected to prevent Mitchell firefighters from accessing the Poag area after the annexation, McNamara told the group of residents.

No one was present to speak in favor of the annexations. The property is owned by Charles E. and Helen A. Mueller, and Robert J. and Joan E. Mueller.

Fly-In gives local airshow fans option

By Greg Uptain
Staff writer

For those who don't want to battle the crowds at the Fair St. Louis Air Show, there is a viable alternative for the Fourth of July weekend.

The St. Louis Escadrille will host its first ever Great War Fly-In and Concourse from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. July 3-5 at Creve Coeur Airport, 3277 Creve Coeur Mill Road.

Admission is $5 per vehicle.

The event will feature replica fighter aircraft from World War I, with period cars and re-enactors.

"This is the first of what we hope is an annual event," said Escadrille member Bob Rockford, of St. Ann, who flies an SE5a replica plane.

The 25 members of the club have been to other fly-ins in other parts of the country such as Iowa, Kansas and Ohio.

Rockford thinks St. Louis is the perfect place to have an event like this.

"This is such a unique city in the history of aviation," said Rockford, who cited such things as St. Louis being Charles Lindbergh's birthplace and also the home of a large aircraft manufacturer like Boeing.

Rockford also feels Creve Coeur Airport is a good place to have the event.

"This airport is unique in that they have more antique aircraft than any other airport in the country," he said.

"This airport is really a diamond in the rough," said Don Parsons, of St. Peters, another Escadrille member.

One of the participants in the event is an 83-year-old man from Arizona, who will fly for three days in an open cockpit plane to get to St. Louis. Another participant is flying over six states and 1,700 miles from Oregon to be at the event.

The name Escadrille is the French term for squadron, which usually consisted of 12 planes. The term was picked up by American aviators during the war. The St. Louis Escadrilles have been in existence since 1992, with a steadily increasing membership since then.

"A group of guys built World War I aircraft to organize and promote World War I aviation and the building of those planes," said member Tim Adcock, of Valley Park.

The cost of building the aircraft depends on the plane and its engine. A Nieuport 17 replica that uses a Volkswagen engine can be built for approximately $10,000, while the Fokker Triplane replicas using actual rotary engines from the war could exceed $25,000, club members said. If the aircraft is in good shape with a good, historical engine, it can be worth around $50,000.

For those who don't want to battle the crowds at the Fair St. Louis Air Show, this event is a viable alternative for the Fourth of July weekend.

The club has had planes on display in the past at the St. Louis County Fair and Air Show in Chesterfield and has found exhibit is usually one of the most popular attractions at the event.

"The advantage is we're the only ones with World War I airplanes," said Rockford.

Parsons agreed, saying "There's a lot of romance behind it."

Club members feel the upcoming event is a great way for people to get to see the aircraft because most of the originals are either gone or in a museum.

Adcock said there will be some rare photo opportunities, so event-goers are encouraged to bring their cameras.

"There will be a clear background," he said. "There will be nothing to indicate present day."

The event will feature a collection of 1914-1918 Model-T Fords supplied by the Horseless Carriage Club of Missouri and a 1903 steamcar. The event also will include re-enactment groups in American and German military uniforms and hourly "missions" by the aircraft.

A similar event held in Kansas recently drew 3,000 spectators, at a small airport with very little marketing. Escadrille members hope to attract at least 5,000 to the St. Louis event.

"We want the public to know about us," Rockford said. "We want our ranks to grow."

The sponsor of the event is Red Baron Pizza. Concessions also will be available at the event.

The event will feature replica fighter aircraft from World War I, with period cars and re-enactors.

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED

Attorney At Law

Recently many individuals have been asserting their rights under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). One professional golfer has been granted the right to use a golf cart when playing on the professional tour because of a disabling leg condition. Other individuals are also attempting to assert their rights under this Act in a variety of situations.

In one recent Illinois case, a deaf defendant received a traffic citation while driving under the influence in 1995. The officer advised the defendant that his taillights were not working by showing the lights on his automobile to him. The police officer then demonstrated to the defendant how to perform the field-sobriety test. The defendant, who was unable to hear anything, copied the officer and performed the field-sobriety test. Apparently the defendant and the officer communicated periodically by using written notes.

The officer then arrested the defendant and transported him to the county jail, where a breathalyzer test evidenced an alcohol concentration of .16. The defendant driver filed a motion to suppress evidence of the use of the field-sobriety and breathalyzer tests. The defendant argued that the Americans with Disabilities Act required law enforcement to provide a qualified interpreter for individuals who are deaf. The defendant testified he requested an interpreter on four occasions, but the officer continually denied his request.

The trial court found the defendant guilty, and the defendant took the case on appeal. The defendant maintained that the appellate court should reverse his conviction because his requests for a sign language interpreter were denied. The State contended that the ADA Handbook itself suggests that the use of written communication may be sufficient for effective communication in certain circumstances.

The Appellate Court noted that to require a police officer to delay his investigation to make arrangements for the provision of a sign-language interpreter would interfere with the law's objectives because the alcohol concentration in the blood dissipates over time. Furthermore, the defendant indicated that he understood the warning to motorists regarding the consequences of taking the tests. Under these circumstances, the Appellate Court held that the use of written communication and the officer's demonstration of how to perform the tests constituted an effective means of communication resulting in no prejudice to the defendant. Thus, no interpreter was required.

NEWS

AROUND THE AREA

Here's what happened around the Metro East in the past week:

East St. Louis

Charter school considered

The East St. Louis School District is considering a charter school that would serve students who have dropped out or been expelled.

The board Monday conducted a public hearing on the proposed Southern Illinois University-East St. Louis Charter School.

SIU proposed the school for 100 students ages 14-19 who are no longer enrolled in the district. Some students who have been suspended repeatedly also may be accepted.

The school's curriculum would consist of computer-assisted instruction in core subjects, career planning and training in skilled trades.

Concert series in jeopardy

The Peaceful African Summer Nights concert series may end after this year, the series' organizer said.

In a statement, Bakari Institute Executive Director Jahl Bakari said the concert series will end or move to another city because of a lack of support in East St. Louis.

"It is frustrating that the majority of our supporters come from outside East St. Louis," Bakari said. "As a result, we will look to Belleville, St. Louis or Venice to host our next series, if we should decide to do it again at all."

The concert series began in 1994 as an effort to revitalize Jones/Hall Park. After park district officials arrested Bakari and concert patrons in 1996, the series moved to Metropolitan Community College.

Fairview Heights

Safety Center opens at mall

There is a new addition at St. Clair Square and it's not another store.

A 2,000-square-foot Public Safety Center recently opened at the mall.

Dale Fredeking, a captain with the Fairview Heights Police Department, said the concept came out of suggestions from police sergeants two years ago.

"They had an idea to put a police substation in the area of the mall. After two years of ideas and planning it became reality," Fredeking said.

The center, located at the front of the shopping center between the main entrance and Famous-Barr, is occupied by St. Clair security staff and Fairview Heights police officers. It will provide security throughout the business district, centered around the intersection of Interstate 64 and Illinois 159.

The substation is consistent with community policing, which helps police departments increase its visibility in the community, Fredeking said.

Dupo

Superintendent search rests at 6

The search for a new superintendent for the Dupo School District has been narrowed to six candidates.

The school board met Wednesday for an update on the search. Interim Superintendent Carl Buehler said by July 20, if not before then, Buehler said.

The board appointed Buehler interim superintendent after the dismissal of former Superintendent George Taubenheim.

The board fired Taubenheim in March because he failed to work effectively with others in the district, including the school board, district residents and the teachers' union, school board Vice President Bruce Feltmeyer said.

At a special meeting in May, the board decided to conduct its own superintendent search instead of paying the Illinois Association of School Boards $1,200 to look for candidates.

Cahokia

Board of Trustees OKs funding for auto dealer

The Cahokia Board of Trustees has approved a loan for Bob Brockland Pontiac GMC Inc. to finance a used car lot at Jerome Lane and Illinois 3.

Under the agreement, the village will loan Brockland $75,000 in tax increment financing funds to be paid back in two years at a 3.5 percent annual interest rate. Brockland will begin monthly payments of $3,240 July 1.

"It is an incentive to put business back into town," Mayor Mike King said. "It isn't a gift — it's a paycheck."

Edwardsville

Marchers show support for homes

People ages 14 to 94 marched through downtown Edwardsville Saturday to muster support to save the Madison County Nursing Home and Sheltered Care Home.

An estimated 75 supporters paraded from the Madison County Administration Building carrying signs.

Walkers urged people to rally July 14 at a hearing of the Illinois Department of Health on Madison County's application to close the two homes at the end of November.

A state official will preside over the hearing at 10 a.m. at the Edwardsville High School auditorium.

Expecting? Doulas give emotional support

"A doula is on call around the clock. It takes a great deal of your physical and emotional energy."

Lesley James

There's been a lot of name-calling going on lately at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City, but it's a good kind.

The name banters about by staff members in the OB ward is doula.

Sherry Stefanoff, a volunteer at St. Elizabeth and a future doula, said the word once referred to the most important female servant in the German household, the woman who helped the lady of the house through her childbearing.

"In the past, all women in the village would come help a woman during childbirth," she said. "They would be there before and the birth, so this mothering the mother is going back to the good old days."

Cheryl Coleman, president of the International Childbirth Education Association, stresses the fact that doulas do not provide medical care.

"They offer a tremendous advantage in the extra physical and emotional support that they provide," Coleman said.

This return to a more caring time has definite advantages and benefits. Doulas of North America statistics say that a few of the benefits are:

- 50 percent reduction in cesarean rate;
- 25 percent shorter labor; 60 percent reduction in epidural requests; 40 percent reduction in oxytocin use; 30 percent reduction in analgesia use; and 40 percent reduction in forceps delivery.

DONA representative Lesley James said almost anyone who has a desire to be with birthing women can become a DONA certified doula.

"Many are volunteers," James said. "In addition to the formal training required, a doula must have a warm heart. You really need to give of yourself and forget your own needs."

"A doula is on call around the clock. It takes a great deal of your physical and emotional energy."

At this time, there are approximately 100 doulas in the St. Louis area. Once a person decides they want these services, a list of doulas can be obtained from Barnes Jewish Hospital in St. Louis.

Stefanoff, who has attended training sessions at Barnes, nearly is ready to become the first doula at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

"When a doula is selected, they arrange to meet the mother and it's basically all on their terms," Stefanoff said. "They ask them what their expectations are, what they want, do they have a birth plan. It's a matter of bonding with the person."

"When it's time to go to the hospital, the doula spends the entire time with them. We are there to meet their needs, rubbing their back, giving them support by holding their hand. Or by telling the father that it's OK."

"When your loved one is in pain, it's hard for the family to not get upset or lose perspective of what's going on," Stefanoff said.

Program seeks applicants

Christmas in April Tri-Cities Area, Inc. is accepting applications for home rehabilitation on April 24, 1998.

In partnership with our community, Christmas in April Tri-Cities Area, Inc. rehabilitates the houses of low-income homeowners, particularly the elderly and handicapped, so they may continue to live in warmth, safety and independence.

After months of extensive preparation, work culminates in a National Rebuilding Day, held the last Saturday in April. This one-day blitz joins skilled and unskilled people and volunteers and beneficiaries in the neighbor-helping-neighbor tradition of America's past. As houses are transformed, neighborhoods and communities find hope and pride restored.

Anyone wishing to apply should call Butch Wojtowicz at 931-4378 for an application. The homeowner's name must appear on the title. Christmas in April is looking for repairs that can be accomplished in one day, and applicants must live in the Madison County area.

Low-income, elderly, and disabled people who cannot maintain their homes are eligible for our services. All work is done free of charge. Individual families are referred to the service through churches, community organizations, service groups, or from friends, family and neighbors.

Tigers capture conference top honor Edwardsville wins all-sports trophy

By Greg Shashack
Staff writer

When Tim Dougherty arrived to coach football at Edwardsville in 1992, the great Southwestern Conference debate was just beginning to stir.

PREP SPORTS

When he added athletic director to his duties a short time later, the debate was raging in Edwardsville. Should the Tigers rejoin the SWC or remain estranged from the league, they jilted in 1997?

And while many coaches at Edwardsville High fretted over the Tigers' ability to excel in a league that boasted southern Illinois' largest schools, Dougherty led the charge for readmission for the 1996-97 school year.

"Six years ago, it was pretty much anti-Southwestern Conference," Dougherty said of public sentiment in Edwardsville the three years ago, when we were almost in the door, there was still a lot of talk behind the scenes like, 'What are we doing this for?'

"I just feel real good that we proved we can compete and I really believe it's elevated our teams all across the board."

The numbers proved him right. With the Tigers claiming SWC championships in six sports — boys cross country, boys golf, girls golf, boys basketball, girls basketball and baseball — and finishing lower than third in just two sports, Edwardsville has been awarded the SWC all-sports trophy for 1997-98.

Edwardsville (96 points), which finished three points ahead of runner-up Belleville East (93), is the first school not from Belleville to capture all-sports in the SWC.

"Personally, it's one of the biggest accomplishments that I've had anything to do with," Dougherty said. "I feel really good about it in the sense that it shows the quality of coaches that we have and the quality of kids that we have. It doesn't always mean you have to finish first to prove that, but it sure helps."

Belleville West was third with 90½ points. Collinsville was fourth (65), Granite City was fifth (47), followed by Alton (45) and East St. Louis (29).

The Kahoks' lone SWC title was in girls soccer. The Warriors' lone title was in wrestling.

Belleville West won the all-sports trophy last year, edging crosstown rival East 96½-96. Edwardsville, in its first year back in the league, took third with 93 points.

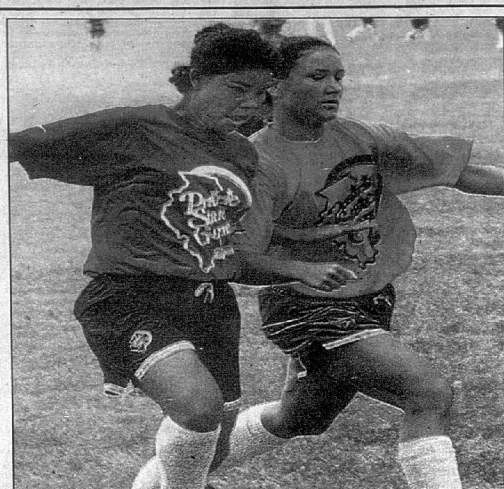

And while Dougherty is proud of Tigers athletics' first two seasons back in the league, he's aware the cost of failure could have been painful.

"I think I might have been the one to take the first bullet," Dougherty said.

Order of finish for SWC sports in 1997-98:

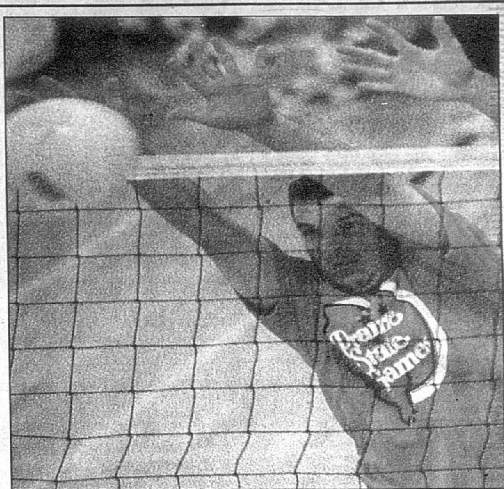

Boys sports
Cross country: 1. Edwardsville, 2. Collinsville, 3. Belleville West, 4. Belleville East, 5. Granite City, 6. East St. Louis, 7. Alton.

Dougherty prepares for senior season Sharpshooter works on improving his game for senior season at Collinsville

By Bill Hester
Correspondent

Steve Dougherty and Kevin Asbrock were taking shots from past halfcourt during a summer league camp the other day.

Neither was able to duplicate the miracle shot that Asbrock hit to lift Collinsville High School past Edwardsville in the IHSA Class AA playoffs this past winter.

"We practiced the shot but we couldn't make it," Dougherty said. "That was the best feeling in the world when that ball went in."

Asbrock has since graduated from Collinsville but Dougherty is working on his game in preparation to be a featured scorer for the Kahoks next winter when he is a senior.

Dougherty, a 6-foot guard, has been a starter for the Kahoks varsity team since midway through his sophomore season.

The highlight of that 1996-97 campaign was a senior night game in which he connected on nine 3-pointers.

That was his specialty again last season as he was the designated zone-buster for the Kahoks.

"My role on the team last year was to take the outside shot if I was open," Dougherty said. "I probably made more 3-pointers than I attempted 2-pointers."

But Dougherty said he is working on becoming a more well-rounded player this summer. He and his Collinsville teammates recently returned from a team camp at Illinois State University in Bloomington.

"I felt pretty good about that camp," Dougherty said. "We got to "The one thing I want to do next year is be a more consistent shooter. I had my good games last year but I also had some bad shooting games. I want to be more consistent."

play a lot of games there and went 8-2."

The Kahoks now are involved in daily early morning practices at the high school.

"We also play in a league at Belleville Area College on Tuesday nights and the last few weeks have been rough," Dougherty said. "We've lost three games in a row and I've been turning the ball over too much. I'm really working now on improving my dribbling skills."

Dougherty also admits that he needs work on his defense.

"I'm working to become a better defensive player," Dougherty said. "Defense is a matter of working hard and getting to the right spot in the zone."

A lot of the emphasis has been on defense and ball-handling but that doesn't mean Dougherty is ignoring his outside shot. He tries to shoot somewhere every day.

"The one thing I want to do next year is be a more consistent shooter."

Collinsville will host tournament pool

Post 365 looks to rejuvenate itself in time to chase Tournament of Champions title

By Brian Bretsch

LEGION BASEBALL

Normally the Fourth of July holiday weekend is one to which Collinsville American Legion Post 365 skipper Steve Heimkamp looks forward.

He and Post 365 get to host one of the six brackets in the American Legion's Tournament of Champions. Being a host site, Heimkamp will virtually live at Arthur Fletcher Field, so that means no grass-cutting duties at home.

And being a host site translates into more home games for Collinsville, which is where the team generally plays its best baseball.

However, with Post 365 struggling near the .300 benchmark (6-7), Heimkamp may wish he was riding on his tractor instead of being at the ballpark.

"It's hard to call. We're not playing real well," Heimkamp said. "I'm hoping having a day off (Monday) and (Wednesday) will rejuvenate us. It's wide open. We could win it and then we couldn't."

Post 365 will host Pool C, which includes Jerseyville, Belleville, Chatham Glenwood and Berge Park. Belleville is the only team Heimkamp is familiar with.

Belleville closely resembles the West High School roster. Ryan Tribout is leading the Belleville squad with a .484 batting mark and he is among the summer leaders in District 22 with three home runs and 14 RBI. Eric Linnemeier is close behind with a .462 average, followed by Todd

Tri-City displays 'never quit' attitude

By Rick Broome
Correspondent

Common knowledge holds that baseball is a simple game. You hit, you catch and you throw.

The American Legion varsity game June 19 between Edwardsville and Tri-City was a crisply-played, fundamentally sound, error-free baseball game, which Edwardsville eventually won 4-1.

"They got one big hit when they needed," said Tri-City coach Frank Burnett. "We hit the ball hard all night, but always right at them. The bottom line is that they got it done and we didn't."

Tri-City left-handed Mike Alvers, the staff ace, had to be lifted after the third inning with discomfort in his elbow.

"He did a nice job for us but you could tell he was uneasy out there," Burnett said. "It's too early in the summer to risk anything more serious happening to his arm, so we took him out."

Tri-City Post 13 entered the dog days of summer as a talented and versatile team. Behind Alvers, John Kelly and Paul Kacera are two of the better pitchers in the state, that also includes Sean Courtenay, Dave Wittington and Jason Dix.

Third baseman Elliot Dine has been the team's best player of the season thus far, and a handful of college and scout scouts on hand June 19 were dazzled by Ted Millas, usually the left fielder but who was at third base against Edwardsville.

"They kept asking me, if you usually play in the left who on Earth do you have at third?" Burnett said with a laugh. "Teddy's a real complete player. He can hit or throw. He does a lot of things well."

The team's set lineup when Alvers is on the mound features Kelly at first, Kacera in right field, Dine at third and Millas in left.

With Scott Smallie at second, Brian Kamadulski at shortstop and Jeff Hayden behind the plate and Tim Wallace in center field to round out a solid starting lineup, Tri-City should be plenty of pop.

The team's weakness may be on mound, especially since the ace of the Granite City High School pitching staff, Dustin Brewer, was drafted and signed recently with the Baltimore Orioles organization.

"We might be a little shallow on pitching. I mean real pitching—that fiery mental-ty."

(Kacera) is a late bloomer, a big strong kid who is growing into his body and I think he is right on the verge of showing people what he's made of. His best is still ahead of him.

"We're going out there trying to play with 12 or 13 guys, on a roster that can hold 15, according to Burnett.

"Billot was really sick (recently)," Burnett said, "but he gave us a gutsy performance in a loss to one of the best teams around."

That loss to Fairview Heights in mid-June may loom as the turning point to Tri-City's season. With six outs to go, and Tri-City holding a 3-2 lead, Fairview Heights rallied to claim an 8-3 lead. Tri-City closed the gap to 8-7 but couldn't get over the hump.

"We just ran out of gas," Burnett said. "We sent Jason Dix, who is exclusively a pitcher, out there to try and get the final hit, but we didn't get it done. The way we came back, though, gave us a lot of perspective on this team's heart, and a real lift that should carry us through the rest of the summer."

"I'm new to a lot of these players, and they're new to me," Burnett said. "I stressed the strong tradition we have around here to my team, and I told them that I fully expect them to uphold those standards of excellence."

Baltz at 448.

On the mound, Adam Dodd and David Miller are both 3-0. Dodd has 20 strikeouts on the season.

With that knowledge about Belleville, Helmkamp is still concerned about the other three teams in the bracket.

"According to the scouting bureau, Chatham Glenwood is not too bad," Helmkamp said. "They have got some good players. It should be a tough bracket."

Helmkamp is hoping the Post 365 bats become more active in the tournament. Wayne Astrauskas is hitting .421 and Kenny "Big Country" Lutz has smacked four home runs, but overall the offense has had little trouble producing runs.

"It hasn't been the pitching," Helmkamp said. "It's a matter of making contact. We're striking out too much."

We haven't been to consistent in that area so far.

"We have got a couple of young guys. Some are relatively inexperienced in playing summertime baseball. It's hot. Some kids get jobs. It takes a special kid to hit in the summer. Right now we're trying to find ourselves."

The tournament of Champions couldn't come at a better time for Post 365. Collinsville will play five games in a three-day stretch. A possible sixth game could also be included if Collinsville wins its pool or earns the one wild card to play in the quarterfinals on Saturday.

"(The tournament) can only help," Helmkamp said. "Unfortunately we've had a lot of games in a short time. In order for us to overcome the speed bump, we need to play."

"I can't put my finger on any one guy. We haven't been driving the ball and not getting the big baschets."

Gateway wins SWIDA award, cited as catalyst for region

COLLINSVILLE — Described as a "catalyst for a new vision to the entire region," Gateway International Raceway in Madison was named the Outstanding Development of 1997 by the Southwest Illinois Development Authority.

The announcement was made at a luncheon celebrating SWIDA's 10-year anniversary.

Two other finalists for the award were Community Development Consultants Inc. of East St. Louis and the Alton Expressway.

Gateway International, a $25 million initial investment, "transformed a blighted landscape and has become a catalyst for a new vision to the entire region," said SWIDA Board Chairman Terry Shaefer.

Accepting the award was Christopher Pook, president and chief executive officer of Grand Prix Association of Long Beach, the parent company of GIR.

Pook said the award was a "tremendous honor" for the company.

Power outages averted

METRO EAST — Huge power demands on power nearly caused Illinois Power to issue a mandatory outage Thursday, but officials were able to secure enough energy from the east to avoid a loss of power.

Also, Illinois Power called for a "Conservation Day" between 10 a.m. and 9 p.m. June 25, which helped avert an outage, said Jim DeVore, public relations manager for IPI in Granite City.

"It's not just Illinois Power, but all of the us in the Midwest just get hammered this time of year," he said, as customers crank up their air conditioners and use other appliances.

With the conservation day — and all days this summer, with temperatures well above 90 degrees — IPI asks customers to voluntarily conserve power until the heat wave has passed. The heat lasted throughout the weekend.

Cooking teacher piling up awards

GRANITE CITY — Chef Ollie Sommer has been cooking for more than 50 years, and teaching at Belleville Area College for about six.

In July he will be honored for both.

On July 23, Sommer — chef-instructor in BAC's hospitalty food service management program — will be inducted into the 1998 American Academy of Culinary Arts.

During the six-day, annual American Culinary Federation convention in Anaheim, Calif.

Then he will go to Miami for the Council on Hotel, Restaurant and Institutional Education Convention, where he will receive the Chef Brethaupt Award for his commitment to food service education.

"He was a very accomplished chef, very very good, who devoted his life to simplifying the profession," Sommer said. "This award is a very special one for me because I knew Chef Herman Brethaupt personally."

"For me to get this — I haven't been teaching really that long — it's really awesome to think I'm getting the two highest awards in the industry in a week."

Winning awards is nothing new for Sommer, one of a handful of certified executive chefs in the St. Louis region.

Three officers are promoted

GRANITE CITY — Granite City Police Department has promoted three more officers to fill a gap made by a retiring captain.

Promoted June 24 were Richard Werth, to sergeant; Timothy Lyerla, to lieutenant; and F. Ronald Landman Jr. to captain.

Capt. James Lengyel retired June 19 after 27 years of service.

He is the second captain to retire this year, after Capt. Dennis Chenault stepped down in May, and Steve Willard, Rich Miller and David Murgich were promoted to captain, lieutenant and sergeant, respectively, to fill that hole.

Two face weapons charges

MADISON — Two Madison residents with a car full of guns are facing felony weapon charges after a recent incident.

Nakia Latham, 23, and Angela Hicks, 25, both of the 800 block of Lee Avenue, were charged June 28. They were arrested late in the early morning of June 25 after an alleged drive-by shooting in the Lee Wright Homes area. Police found five guns, including an assault-style rifle and combat shotgun, in the car.

Latham was charged with one count each of unlawful possession of weapons by a felon, and unlawful use of a weapon. Her bond was set at $75,000.

Latham has an extensive criminal record, including a conviction in January 1997 for unlawful delivery of a controlled substance.

Hicks was charged with one count of unlawful use of a weapon. Her bond was set at $25,000.

City behind in count

VENICE — A low count for the 1990 census probably cost the city of Venice millions of dollars, something city officials are hoping to avoid in 2000.

Mayor Tyrone Echols said he estimated the city's population — officially 3,460 — is undercounted by at least 20 percent, and they may have as many as 5,000 residents.

"I would be willing to bet it was at least 4,400," he said. The problem is that some residents are unwilling to correctly fill out the long form.

In a census, two types of forms are used. The short form asks for simple information on the number of people in the household, while the long form asks more detailed questions.

Many of those questions deal with housing conditions. Echols said some residents in public housing were also afraid to list the actual number of people living with them.

He pointed out that information collected by the Census Bureau is used only for census information, and cannot be passed on to law enforcement or other agencies.

Man wins award

Memorials may be made to the St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ.

Park District plans trip to Indiana

The Granite City Park District's sixth extended trip of the year will be to Indiana. The quiet surroundings of Bearcreek Farms, with dining, lodging, live entertainment, shopping and recreational activities, will be the destination. The Aug. 17-19 trip will feature The Jan Garber Orchestra in a Big Band Concert at the Farm on the night of arrival.

Prior to the concert, will be a buffet meal with a full breakfast buffet and complete dinner the following day in the Red Barn Restaurant on the grounds. The second evening will include a lively musical performance at the Goodtimes Theatre. The group should arrive in time for shopping and browsing in the village shops before dinner. All of the activities are within the bounds of the 200-acre farm located near Bryant, Ind., which is described by many as "Indiana's best kept secret."

The second day of the trip will include side trips to the Ft. Wayne area. The first stop of the day will be Sewcham's Pickle Factory. Their claim to fame is that instead of just using a process, they use recipes to get the unique pickles they produce. Dozens of varieties are available for sampling as well as purchasing.

After the pickle factory tour, lunch will be at the downtown Ft. Wayne at the Window Garden Restaurant, followed by a tour of Seyfert Foods, Inc. This should be an enjoyable experience, as the tour of the potato chip factory will be guided by a former line worker who has appeared on many TV shows such as Johnny Carson and David Letterman.

She often describes similarities she has seen between chips and famous celebrities and cartoon characters. She has traveled extensively with her potato chip collection giving talks. She now concentrates on the factory tours of the plant, which turns a million pounds of potatoes into chips each week.

The group will head for home after breakfast on the third day with a stop at Abbott's Candy Shop in Hagerstown for a tour and samples of the caramels and chocolate made there. Sugar-free samples are available.

Residents of the Park District will have priority in making the trip, with non-residents being placed on a waiting list and notified one week later of availability. Non-residents will be placed on the list immediately with those wishing to register by phone may do so after noon on the first day of sign up.

The trip will go on sale at 8 a.m. July 8 in the Wilson Park Ice Rink. The cost of the three days is $220 for a single reservation, $196 per person for three to a room, $180 each for three to a room and $175 each for a quad.

Grads reunion planned Aug. 7

The January and June classes of 1947 are hosting the Old Grads Reunion Aug. 7 at the Sunset Hills Country Club in Edwardsville.

If you graduated from the Granite City Community High School before 1949, you are invited to attend the party. Social Hour will begin at 6 p.m. with a dinner buffet at 7 p.m.

Dress for the evening will be casual. There will be dancing to the George Johnson Combo, formerly the Bill Benatti band.

Cost will be $26 per person. Make checks payable to "Old Grads Party," and mail to Shirley Yates, 2521 Delmar, Granite City, Ill. 62040.

Deadlines for reservations is July 24 and limited to the first 250. If you want to be on the mailing list for the Old Grads Party, please mention it when making reservations.

Fair has shuttle service

By Clayton Berry
Staff writer

Bi-State is beefing up its bus and MetroLink services to provide transportation services for Fair St. Louis patrons during the weekend.

Increased MetroLink services and special shuttles could ease traffic woes and parking nightmares, said Linda Hancock, director of Bi-State communications.

"It is a real service to people," she said. MetroLink will run every seven to eight minutes during the day Friday through Sunday. MetroLink typically pulls into stations every 10 to 15 minutes on weekends. The light rail will operate less frequently after midnight, though service continues until 2 a.m. It usually stops at 1:30 a.m.

A Downtown shuttle is slated to trek every 5 minutes from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. It begins at Market Street and Jefferson Avenue.

"This is a real plus for people who want to go early or stay late or enjoy the

Repeat performance

2nd Patriots in the Park will be bigger, better

More than 15,000 gathered in Wilson Park for 1997's Patriots in the Park Independence Day celebration, and organizers are looking forward to a repeat performance.

The community enjoyed a musical concert and patriotic revue presented by the 100-member Community Choir and observed the 5th largest musical fireworks display in Illinois for 1997.

This year, the 1998 program promises to be even bigger and better. Additional fireworks have been ordered and the 9:15 p.m. July 4 display will be a computer-synchronized musical extravaganza. The choir has been practicing for months and will fill the air with the sounds of stars and stripes, beginning at 8 p.m.

There is plenty of wholesome, family-type entertainment awaiting inside Wilson Park. Carriage rides through the beautiful gardens, petting zoos, pony rides, face painting, carnival rides, softball, baseball and mud volleyball tournaments, car shows, craft show, firemen's rodeo, a 5K fun walk/run around the park and some of the best food in the region.

Old Six Mile Historical Society members will be taking orders for the Granite City Pictorial History book, first offered during the Centennial celebration in 1996, during the Craft Fair on Sunday at the Ice Rink.

Student wins $100 in Patriots in the Park essay contest, Page 8D

JOHN FRESE / Press-Record

Like last year's Patriots in the Park celebration, this year's promises a variety of activities — including, of course, fireworks. The 9:15 p.m. display on Saturday will be a computer-synchronized musical extravaganza. Also on hand Saturday will be The Imperials, an award-winning gospel group.

Imperials will take stage Saturday

The Imperials, a gospel group embraced around the nation, will take center stage Saturday at Patriots in the Park.

The contemporary gospel group celebrated its 34th year in January of ministering the gospel through recordings, TV and personal appearances all over the United States and beyond. Although the members have changed over the years, the quality, sound and popularity of the Imperials has been embraced by millions.

Their credits are many. They have been awarded four Grammy Awards from NARAS and 17 Dove awards. They have been named Group of the Year eight times, and continue to have songs in the top 10 radio charts nationwide.

Their free concert is at 6 p.m. Saturday at Coolidge Middle School Field. They will also perform selections with the 100-voice choir in the patriotic concert at 8 p.m. just before the computer-choreographed soundtrack fireworks display.

For more information on the Imperials, call Harvest Assembly at 931-2500 or the Granite City Park Office at 877-3059.

Craft Show Tammy Lane shows off some of the stuffed animals and play bunk beds for children to enjoy that will displayed at the Craft Show during the Patriots in the Park celebration. The Craft Show will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday at the Ice Rink.

Folk music, Indian songs set at Fair

Historical figures will come to life, period music will fill the air and treasures of the environment will be discovered at Fair Saint Louis 1998.

Two National Park Service tents, sponsored by Coin Acceptors, will be hosting a lineup of individuals dedicated to the preservation of the environment and to our rich history.

National Park Service rangers from across the nation will gather at the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial to perform interpretive presentations and help host the Park Service events.

Rangers from Jewel Cave National Monument in South Dakota, Salem Maritime National Historic Site in Massachusetts and Biscayne National Park in Florida will join the St. Louis rangers from the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial and the Ulysses S. Grant National Historic Site.

Paul and Win Grace of Columbia, Mo. will sing traditional folk tunes.

Documentaries omitted from films list

Trivia

By Kevin Carbery
Correspondent

A few weeks ago, the American Film Institute's 100 greatest films list was publicized. It is an interesting ranking, though many people have criticized it.

I think the 1,500 filmmakers, actors, film historians, critics and politicians who participated in the survey did a decent job in choosing the 100 best movies released between 1896 and 1996 (too bad for you, "Titanic" fans). However, there are some things about the list that bother me.

First, there are no documentaries ranked. As two of the best films of any category in the 1990s have been the documentaries "Hoop Dreams" and "When We Were Kings," I believe it was short-sighted of the voters to ignore this genre.

Next, I can give many examples where a movie made the list over a similar, better motion picture. For instance "Forrest Gump" is No. 71. Another film that used the technique of inserting a modern character into archival newsreel footage is Woody Allen's "Zelig," which did not make the list. Incidentally, "Zelig" was released 11 years before "Gump."

Also, I did not like the placement of some of the motion pictures on the list. The voters put "Star Wars" at No. 15, ahead of such superior films as No. 19 "Chinatown," No. 30 "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre" and No. 67 "The Manchurian Candidate." "E.T. The Extra-Terrestrial" is at No. 25, while better movies like No. 63 "Stagecoach" and No. 83 "Platoon" are not given the stature they deserve.

Finally, I would like to speak out for two of my favorite comedies that are not in the ranking. I realize that "National Lampoon's Animal House" is not for everyone, but I feel it is a more deserving film for recognition than No. 62 "Tootsie." And the omission of W.C. Fields from the list is a travesty. His "It's a Gift" is one of the funniest movies of all time.

For this week's quiz, the topic is great movies, whether they are on the list or not.

1. This holiday-themed film about a boy asking Santa for an air rifle is not on the list, but should be. What is it?

2. Who plays the prime minister of Freedonia in "Duck Soup," which is No. 85 on the list?

3. Who performs the thrilling motorcycle ride in "The Great Escape," another terrific film that should have been in the rankings?

4. What Spike Lee film that ends with a race riot in Brooklyn was another serious omission from the list?

5. Who plays the husband and wife divorcing in "The Awful Truth," a fantastic comedy not included in the ranking?

6. "Raging Bull," which is No. 24, is about what boxer?

7. How many characters does Peter Sellers play in No. 26 "Dr. Strangelove"?

8. What is the Mel Brooks comedy about two guys trying to run a scam by putting on a rotten Broadway show?

9. What was the first film ever directed by Orson Welles?

10. Why do the two main characters have to flee Chicago in No. 14 "Some Like It Hot"?

Answers: 1. "A Christmas Story." 2. Groucho Marx. 3. Steve McQueen. 4. "Do the Right Thing." 5. Cary Grant and Irene Dunne. 6. Jake La Motta. 7. Three — the president, the British captain and the mad scientist. 8. "The Producer," which absolutely should have been included. 9. "Citizen Kane," which is No. 1 on the list. 10. They witness the St. Valentine's Day Massacre and need to run from the job.

Kevin Carbery can be heard as a regular on "The Trivia Coast-To-Coast Show" from 8 to 11 p.m. Sundays on KMOX-AM (1120).

Music

This duo's high-energy performances include

American old-time music, traditional folk and selections from a wide body of contemporary folk songs.

This year marks the couple's

23rd year of playing music together and performing for everything from historical re-enactments to conferences and workshops to old-time country dances.

Denny Olsen, as Critterman, will entertain audiences while teaching about the wolf, other animals and their natural environments.

His skits, which include audience participation, are hilarious and frightening, emotional and enlightening. His view of animal ecology is educational and invigorating.

Dr. Eugene Griessman will bring his "Lincoln Live" program to the Park Service stage, using words and actions of the 16th president to underscore messages of tolerance, freedom, perseverance and personal achievement. Griessman's powerful dramatization is complemented by background music and a completely authentic costume.

Jack Gladstone, a Blackfeet Indian, will sing songs about his tribal and cultural past, while making links between American Indian people and the average American lifestyle.

He blends legend, history and metaphor into the songs and stories that enthrall his audiences. Many of the stories, passed down through generations, were told to him by his grandmother.

The 12-piece Saxton's Cornet Band will take audiences back in time to the mid-19th century with their music, uniforms and instruments.

When the Civil War began, most communities had one or more year-round brass bands which played at civic functions, and many of these bands volunteered as a group with the newly formed military regiments.

HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, JULY 2
With the moon in partner-oriented Libra smiling down upon Venus and Mars in Gemini, sign of the twins, two is definitely the lucky number, so buddy up. You'll soon see how much more can be accomplished with the right collaborator. Mercury in Leo doesn't take no for an answer, so be prepared when you get what you want.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Emotional well-being becomes your focus. If you live in a negative world, you become part of that world. Surround yourself with positive thinkers. All healthy relationships go through periods of disagreement.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). A new idea of yours is endowed with the seeds of greatness. If you recognize your own insecurity, you can turn it into confidence with a little work. A more forceful style gets answers from those who hold up your process.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Consider the pluses of taking on a roommate. Be complimentary about people you are meeting for the first time, or don't say anything. A can-do attitude makes up for a lack of experience.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). You accentuate the positive though circumstances seem more volatile than usual. What causes you to feel uncertain is confusing to others as well. Be the first to speak up. Outings of two or three are luckiest tonight.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). There is no time for long-winded conversation or childish indulgence. A continual forward push is needed if you are to do what you promised. Omit self-destructive thought patterns, and your confidence level soars.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (July 2). This month and next are ripe for romance. Capricorn and Virgo are especially sexy partners. You are given advantages that enable you to utilize your abilities for great fulfillment. It will be up to you to seize these opportunities and follow through on them. Those close to you bask in your reflected glory, especially in the winning months of October and February.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You are more of a leader than you know. A family member makes an effort to be more like you. Thoughts of escape are natural, but it is time instead to confront your 'Patriotism is a feeling'

Hillary Aerts, 18, of Granite City won the Patriots in the Park Granite City High School student essay contest, on "What Patriotism Means to Me."

She will be given a $100 savings bond this weekend. Her essay is as follows:

Patriotism is a feeling. Patriotism is the joy of watching a high school marching band playing colorful Sousa classics. It is the pride of rising for the National Anthem at a baseball game. Most importantly, though, patriotism is the feeling of security and freedom living in this diverse nation, America.

Patriotism is a sight. Patriotism is witnessing the changing of the guard at Arlington National Cemetery. It is the American flag waving in the breeze, unnoticed by all but me. Most importantly, though, patriotism is the look in a child's eye as that flag passes by, the child innocently unaware of the heroic lives spent to gain the freedom he has yet to truly discover.

Patriotism is a nation. Patriotism is the action of Americans who help in the time of disaster. It is the children who stand to recite the Pledge of Allegiance and understand its meaning. Most importantly, though, patriotism is knowing that all the people in this country — weak or strong, black or white, rich or poor — are as a free, liberated population. Patriotism is the reason, no doubt, that a nation with so many inner obstacles can hold fast and be the strongest in the world.

Others plan celebrations

By Nicole Vaughn
and Alene Hill
Staff writers

Granite City is not the only area city planning Independence Day celebrations. Collinsville, Caseyville and Troy will also offer festivities over the three-day weekend.

In Collinsville, the Jaycees are expanding their annual display this Fourth of July with a three-day carnival and the Village of Caseyville will give a glittery display for the first time in 30 years.

Troy is also planning a weekend celebration.

The Collinsville event starts at 5 p.m. Friday at the Jaycee Sports Complex and runs

'Truman' not so far-fetched

When you've got Jerry Springer talking to a guy who married his horse and local television interrupting a kiddie cartoon to air a naked man's freeway suicide, "The Truman Show" doesn't seem so far-fetched.

The film tells the story of the unsuspecting Truman Burbank, played by Jim Carrey, whose life is fodder for a live TV program. It shows how a voyeuristic TV audience becomes a co-conspirator in the enslavement and psychological manipulation of another human being — all in the name of television.

"It reminds me of when you see an accident up ahead," says Peter Weir, who directed the movie from Paramount Pictures. "Will I look or keep staring ahead? Television is like an accident in your living room. It's always there. It's always on. People seem unable to switch it off."

"The Truman Show" addresses this theme in subversive style. It is a dark and troubling story presented in the form of a comedy set in a too-idyllic-to-be-true seaside town bathed in the bright, shadowless lights of a sitcom.

It offers the most biting commentary on television since "Network," the Sidney Lumet film of more than 20 years ago. It is the latest in a line of movies dating back to the birth of television in which the big screen deals with the little one.

Indeed, "The Truman Show" is almost a throwback, daring to do now what movies more frequently did during TV's Golden Age. With television emerging as a competitor in those days, movies often attacked or trivialized the tube. A key example is "The Great Man" from 1956 that tells of a beloved TV star who turns out to be a fraud.

Decades later, Robert Redford's "Quiz Show" (1994) spoke of the corrupting power of advertisers in TV's early years. Latter-day television was the subject of Martin Scorsese's acerbic "The King of Comedy" in 1983, which looked at the cult of celebrity.

And a Murdoch-sized media mogul of the 1990s was so threatening to world peace that last year, Hollywood had to call in James Bond to slay the giant in "Tomorrow Never Dies."

But it was the 1976 satire "Network," winner of four Academy Awards, that is seen (See 'TRUMAN,' Page 10D)

Jim Carrey wants new role

Just like his character in "The Truman Show," Jim Carrey wants to break out of the role assigned to him. "To me, it's the saddest thing in the world to see a comedian at 60 doing the same character and the same act," Carrey says in a recent Time magazine.

Better known for the broadly comic "Ace Ventura" movies, in his new film Carrey plays the unwitting star of "The Truman Show," where the woman he thinks is his wife — and everybody else are actually actors teaming up to convince him his televised "life" is real.

"In my best scenario, I want to turn out to be Truman Burbank," Carrey says. "I want to turn out to be the guy who won't let himself be caged but still has hope and faith in people, and life."

Newsweek also did a story on Carrey in its latest issue, where the 36-year-old actor said that after making the film with director Peter Weir — who guided Robin Williams ("Dead Poets Society") and Harrison Ford ("Witness") in breakout roles — he was afraid he didn't measure up. "I called Peter up and was very concerned about the beginning of the movie, concerned that I hadn't given him enough whatever," Carrey said. "He said, 'Harrison Ford called me up and did this exact same thing to me.' Just relax."

as the classic critique of contemporary television. The film written by Paddy Chayefsky stars Peter Finch as the insane broadcaster and Faye Dunaway as the ruthless programmer. All three won Oscars. The movie was considered outrageous at the time in its depiction of a ratings-starved network that would stop at nothing to get viewers. As it turned out, the film foretold Springer's over-the-top antics, as well as "reality" shows and local TV news, which will abandon political and international coverage for if-it-bleeds-it-leads crime stories.

Even "The Truman Show" is barely one foot ahead of the present. As Weir started to promote the movie, local television in Los Angeles broke into regular programming, including a children's show, to broadcast live, unedited footage of a man, nude from the waist down, who shot himself to death on a freeway overpass after setting fire to his truck.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Tunnel vision will get you to a financial goal in a hurry. Emotional openness allows others to let go and be themselves. Welcome the opportunity to bring comfort to others. Someone you hardly know becomes a friend.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Find out what is really going on behind the scenes of your business. That intellectual waiting in the wings will continue to wait until you are free. Dates go exceedingly well, especially spur-of-the-moment outings.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Support the project of a friend, even though you may be secretly envious. There is much you do not understand about someone close to you, but this is nothing to fear. Goodwill always begets good will.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Some instability in a relationship will take months, even years, to completely resolve. Concentrate on lessons learned instead of deficits. Tackle domestic issues before they escalate into full-blown problems.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Others count on you to keep the lid on illicit business affairs. Those in power will bend the rules to please you. Though you did not expect to be the center of attraction, a member of the opposite sex cannot resist you.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Negative and positive forces create synergy. Your powerful physical presence invites attention. Though it seems the die has been cast in your romantic life, truly, the possibilities are wide open.

through 11 p.m. It resumes at 11 a.m. Saturday, runs through midnight and finishes Sunday from noon to 6 p.m.

Foley said that Collinsville's fireworks should start about 9:45 p.m. Saturday because the group will wait for Caseyville to complete its display.

Some of the Jaycees also may assist with that display, which should begin in Caseyville Park between 9 and 9:15 p.m.

Troy also is gearing up for its big bash, the Olde Fashioned Family Day celebration set for Saturday at Tri-Township Park.

Activities will wind down for fireworks, slated to begin between 8:30 and 9 p.m.

Fair Saint Louis offers three days of fun

By Glen Sparks
Staff writer

Fair St. Louis, celebration America's 222nd birthday, opens at 11 a.m. Friday. The celebration will continue at 10 a.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. Sunday. It closes each night after a fireworks display at 9:40.

Besides the colorful fireworks show, Fair Saint Louis attractions include the Veiled Prophet Parade, a 10-kilometer run, air shows, famous entertainers, the Liberty Family Theatre, a bicycle stunt team, the Anheuser-Busch Clydesdale horses, amusement park rides and plenty of food.

Pryotecnico Midwest, in business for more than 100 years, will handle the fireworks show. It does more than 800 shows a year around the world.

The popular air shows feature pilots steering all sorts of planes and jets. They will be flying vintage World War II North American advanced trainers, F-15 Eagles, a U.S. Navy F/A-18 Hornet strike fighter, a B-52 bomber and more.

Members of the U.S. Air Force STARS jump team, a special operations combat search and rescue force, will demonstrate their talents.

Also, look for Bob and Pat Wagner to perform a "wingwalking" act and for Missouri pilot Kent Gorton to entertain audiences in his Toyota AirSports Corolla demonstration plane.

After the shows, several pilots will sign autographs at a booth located on Leonor K.

Sullivan Boulevard.

Of course, some of the fair entertainment does go on a little closer to the group. The Fair Saint Louis musical lineup ranges from classic rock stars The Doobie Brothers and Joe Walsh to rhythm and blues artists Chaka Khan and Immatyre and Smooth, Tony Award-winning Bernadette Peters, country star Neal McCoy and the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

Refreshments will be as varied as the entertainment and include traditional favorites such as hamburgers and hot dogs and more exotic fare, such as gator on a stick and Jamaican jerk chicken.

fireworks," Hancock said.

Shuttle and increased MetroLink services have been successful in the past. Last year, MetroLink carried more than 157,000 passengers on July 4 alone. That's nearly four times the normal daily average of 42,000. The bus shuttles sped 52,031 to the July 4 weekend activities.

"The service has an impact on traffic," Hancock said. "People don't have to pay for costly parking. It's a transportation option that's extra affordable."

Volunteer staffers will be on hand to help newcomers to public transportation get where they need to go, Hancock said.

"It's a lot better than the hassles of traffic and parking," she said.

While the service is ready to roll this year, it could face cuts in the future because it is a special event offering. This week, Bi-State officials offered selected route deletions to the board that governs the organization.

Bi-State is trying to make up for a $9 million shortfall in its $125 million transit budget. Some funding remains uncertain, and further cuts could be needed.
